CALLS "SOULMATE" AN ADVENTURESS

Rogues' gallery portrait, said to be likeness of Baroness de Pallandt.

Dr. Ernest Villiers Appleby, formerly professor of chemistry at the University of Minnesota, is suing Baroness de Pallandt, formerly May Dugas of Menominee, Mich., in the high court of England, in the sum of $20,000, the suit evolving around the purchase of a pearl necklace for which the baroness failed to reimburse him. Now he claims his admitted "soulmate" was an adventure before and after she became a member of the nobility. During a hearing of the case recently the baroness gasped in astonishment when she was shown a copy of the picture herewith shown, which is a copy of one in the rogues' gallery of the San Francisco police department. It was taken in 1889, when, it is claimed, she was arrested while a leader of the night life set of the coast city.

LAZY MAN

Is John Taylor Said to be. But His Children Must Not Support Him.

John Taylor, who, it is alleged, refuses to work and forces his small children to sell pencils on the street to support him, was arraigned before Mayor Will H. Cole in police court this morning and warned that if he allows his children to continue the sale of pencils on the streets that he will be sent to jail. He promised to comply with the mayor's order and was released from custody.

It is said that Taylor is an able-bodied man but refuses to work. He was arrested upon orders from the mayor.
